
Vision Prayer Night

1st January 2020

Brother Theodore Andoseh

Halleluiah!

I would like us to obey something from the Koumé News, I would like you to line up and bless our family.

Let us be like Brother Zach, you met a woman from a village, with a shop in the village and transform her into a landlady in Yaoundé of a story building. You bless her, you carry her to save, why don't we improve the lives of the people who come into our lives, by prayer and by the human wisdom we have learnt from life.

John Wesley used to gather the national missionaries, and teach them maths, and teach them botany and he taught them medicine:- everything he knew. He built his people. For him, each of the missionaries was a treasure given to him by God. Most of them were common people- coal miners, looking black from digging coal, he took them, most of them illiterate; he took them, taught them to preach, sent them to preach, wrote for them over 200 books and summarised other over 200 books to bring them down to their level, so that they could benefit from them. Is that devotion? Did he loved his people? Whom do you love? Who have you loved? Whom have you built?

Before marriage, sister Adela was my disciple, I taught her one on one. I taught her the book of Ruth, so that she can learn how to become a servant, one on one. I taught her another book. Every Sunday, I used to gather Israel and my disciples on Sunday and we read one book of brother Zach from beginning till the end and then we pray. One of brother Sama's sermons, I corrected in 8 times. Whom are you labouring to build? I was a student at the university then, I put Adela on pocket money, I gave her 5000 every month, my scholarship money was 25000. In my budget, I put 7000 for my rents and food, I gave 7000 to God, I gave 7000 to my disciples and my pocket money and transport was 4000. So, I gave to God, I invested into my leadership and then my basic needs, I used my money well, and I can tell you what happened to my 25000F Apart from giving to God, I build some of my disciples financially. Because they obeyed me, I built those who obeyed. Adela was doing business at the time, and she was a bad business woman; she was a good industrialist, but she did not know how to sell. When I met her and started disciplining her, I told her, in the Sermon on the Mount, the Lord Jesus said: don't go and claim your debts, so I told her, forget those who owe you. She forgot them, her aunt who gave her the capital told her: ok you have forgiven them, so, live by your forgiveness. You cannot tell someone to forget all her capital and make as if you are praising God every day; your counsel means nothing to you. That is why there are so many useless pastors, they say things that are useless and cheap, that cost them nothing, and they want to build people with nothing, it deceives nobody.

You see the power of obedience and people in whose hands money becomes something. From 230.000, she has a story building in Yaoundé. Clap for Brother Zach. Also, clap for Mama Evelyne. I don't know where she picks her people, 42 of her people came for the convention.

If you want to serve the Lord, do it excellently.

- Three people should pray that like brother Zach we should build our people
- By praying violently for them
- Pray violently for your people and bless them.

Brother Zach did not give her money, he gave her God, and she became a better person in life.

Brother was not only looking for people to pray and fast for his ministry, he build people who were useful to themselves.

- I want, five, five, parents, come and bless one of your children, this year, aloud.

1 John 5:4-5

.. for everyone born of God overcomes the world. This is the victory that has overcome the world, even our faith. 5 Who is it that overcomes the world? Only he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God.

NIV

I am reading this passage to draw your attention to something. Many of us believe that our children knew the Lord when they were young, and that they loved the Lord because they were active in church activities. It was their culture, it was their background, it was their environment, they found whatever entertainment that background offered when they were at that age. If you want to know the children that believed, it will be in their attitude towards the world.

Many of the parents are shocked when the children do scandalous things, but many parents do not even know when their children truly believed, they don't even know how to know that their children have truly believed. I want you to know, the apostle John says that anyone who has believed in Jesus has overcome the world.

When they will confront the love of the world, you will know whether they believed.

They may be in the church, in the choir, they may be involved in many things, actually, the child of the believer who is a delinquent even when he is young is an Esau, because it is normal for children to imbibe the values of their parents and the homes where they are born. So, when a child, from young, does not even imbibe the Christianity of their parents, either the parents really failed by exposing the child to the unbeliever relatives whom they grew to admire, or you abandoned them to an unbeliever babysitter who took care of them. Either you exposed the child to very early influences that corrupted the desires. When Priscilla was younger; I refused that she should not go to holiday to any of my brothers. The one time she went on holiday to one of my brothers who is a doctor, she said: daddy, I will be a doctor. At the end of six months, I called her and I told her: Prisca, you see, you cannot be a doctor, you have the brain to be a doctor but not the life of a doctor. You sleep a lot. A doctor is first of all a person who is average intellectually but who works an average of 20 hours; a doctor is a person with abilities in many disciplines, but with an unusual capacity to work hard. Brains alone cannot make you a doctor. You can teach medicine in university but you cannot practice medicine. I told her: when your patient will be sick at 2am and they come and wake you up, the way you love sleep, will you wake up? So, I said: choose the subject that can allow you sleep and be the best. I was not encouraging her to be lazy. I was encouraging her to know her aptitudes. One visit and I heard the music of medicine for six months.

But when the children start growing, when you begin to see a potency to love the world, they have not believed. For Christian parents, please, when you see in your children, a potency to love the world, they have not believed. Who is it that overcomes the world? It is the one that believed that Jesus Christ is Lord.

Overcoming the world is not something that happens when someone is mature, overcoming the world is not a manifestation of spiritual growth it is a sign of initial faith.

Who is he that overcomes the world? The one that believes in Christ. It is not super consecration.

To abandon the love of the world is not a mark of spiritual growth. Even the big people who believed long ago but who do not know breakthroughs in their spiritual life, it is because they love the world. The real reason is that they had not believed. If you have a problem with the love of the world, worldly music, the spirit of the world, worldly vocations, if the world is real to you and Jesus is not real to you, you do not have a spiritual problem; you have not believed. One does not believe, then he is taught and he makes progress before abandoning the world progressively. No! The world is not something you abandon progressively; we do not triumph over the world by asceticism, by messages on sacrificing for Jesus; we overcome the world by believing in Jesus Christ, that means that you have believed in His life. And when you see things in this perspective, then even many of our elders have not believed. The so-called elders who do not have time for the things of God, they have not believed or they have backslidden from their first love for Jesus Christ.

The world is a spirit, something subtle which we cannot lay hands on. I say this because there are parents who are blind, always protecting their children. When you would have finished, you will have a little dinosaur for a child. Hide the snake and it will bite you! You want to show that you love your children by defending them to protect them – this shows that you are on the side of your children.

This evening was to help you. We are so close to our children that we are blind. We are so close to our children that we do not know them. Those who want to know people must be careful with those who are close to them and yet they do not know them. And we are so close to our children that we do not know them!

When your children have grown, if you want to know those who have believed, watch their attitude towards the world. The one who loves the world has not believed.

We Christian parents are so blind and we like to flatter ourselves even in the church. He who loves the world has not believed! What overcomes the world? What is that anti-world that enters a man? Our faith, our faith!

The cure to immorality is to bring the child to faith in Jesus Christ.

Sexuality is not a crime, the child should be trained to accept his sexuality without dirtiness, but he should understand that it should be used when it is authorised. The permanent solution is lead the child to Christ, let Jesus possess him.

Purity is a choice; it is that in my heart, i have said, i do not want it, i have Jesus. I want to please God. In such cases, we can love ourselves in depths, without compromising.

Say: It is God who created me complete, all my person(being), It is God who created it and He said it is good.

- Come and pray that God will bless us with wisdom to lead our children to the Lord Jesus Christ.
